PATRICK JOHNSON
CELLO

My name is Patrick Johnson, and I am the cello teacher at Mount House. Over the years, playing the cello has given me all manner of wonderful opportunities. For a start, I have performed all over Europe, as well as India and China; I have also performed in every single classical music venue in London, even playing principal cello in the likes of the Royal Albert Hall and the Royal Opera House. I have also worked with many amazing orchestras. As a member of the Southbank Sinfonia I was able to collaborate with the BBC Concert Orchestra, Academy of St-Martin-in-the-Fields and the Royal Opera House; I have also worked with the Philharmonia Orchestra and the London Contemporary Orchestra. I have also worked in other genres too, playing principal cello for the likes of Deep Purple and Phantom of the Opera.

I am very passionate about teaching, and apart from Mount House, I also currently have students at Queen Mary University of London, the Cavendish School, and my own private studio. In terms of ages and standards, over the years my students have ranged from five years old to octogenarian, and from complete beginner to ABRSM diploma standard.

If you are interested in learning cello, I would be delighted to help! Please speak to Mr Whitehouse in the Music Department if you have any questions – unless you manage to catch me when I'm in teaching.
